

A European Citizen Sensor Network

2024

Bringing Stories to Life

EuroSense is a Europe-wide citizen science network that wants to make the voices of European citizens heard by activists, policy makers and governments. By understanding the experiences of citizens in public life, and the pulse of Europe, we will overcome polarisation and collectively tackle the challenges of our times such as climate change, inequality, immigration, democracy and security.

The Eurosense network is active across Europe. Your organisation can join us and become an active member of the network.

How It Works

We use SenseMaker® an innovative online tool, to gather real-life stories from various communities. Designed by experts, this tool lets individuals share and interpret their own experiences. Activists and policymakers can then use this data to identify patterns, emerging issues, and guide positive change.

'SenseMaker,' gathers authentic stories from diverse communities.

What data will be generated?

We generate a large amount of micro-narratives (stories) that are interpreted by the people themselves using a set of questions, indicators and pictures (data about the stories).

From people's interpretation data, patterns and issues can be studied and filtered across different dimensions.

An important aspect in sensemaking is to take an interest in outliers, stories that do not fit the pattern. These can point at the emerging future, at current "blind spots" of community activists, policy and decision-makers.

Join us

to amplify your community's voice across Europe

By joining the EuroSense network as a partner, you can take full advantage of the benefits of the project. By collecting stories using our Sense Making Tool you can make voices from your community heard across Europe in an easy and effortless way. The stories and their data can also be used by you, to understand emerging issues and identify what matters to the people and causes you work for. We can provide support in the Sensemaking process, which will give you the basis for local action or policy influencing.
